

Are you...

• a student or young professional with a keen interest in East Asian Affairs?

• an aspiring researcher looking for an opportunity to see his/her work published?

• interested in gaining access to a network of experts in international affairs?

IFAIR
Young Initiative on Foreign Affairs and International Relations e.V.

The Young Initiative on Foreign Affairs and International Relations is looking for contributions to its East Asia Review!

Send us your article (up to 1000 words) in English or German until the 15th of October. There are no limits regarding the focus of your work - as long as it centers around a current affairs issue in an East Asian country (China, Japan, Mongolia, North Korea, South Korea and Taiwan) or on regional relations.

If you are selected as one of the contributors to this year's East Asian Review, your article will go through a peer-reviewing process during which the editorial team will make suggestions for changes and improvements to your work. The reviewing-process will take up to six weeks. Throughout the process, the editorial team will be there to answer all your questions and give you the necessary support. The final publication will be featured on our website, and all contributors will be admitted to the IFAIR network, in order to receive all updates on future opportunities.

To apply, simply send your article to hannah.elten@ifair.eu.

If you have any further questions or wish to learn more about IFAIR's work, please contact hannah.elten@ifair.eu or check out our website at www.ifair.eu.
